FOURTEEN WARRANTS ISSUED IN PULASKI

Labor Law Cases Are Compromised in East Radford, Although Accused Pled Guilty.

Agents of the State Labor Department who have been breaking all records recently in the prosecution of cases involving violations of the State labor laws, were again actively on the job yesterday. Reports received by Labor Commissioner Doherty from East Radford and Pulaski showed a number of new warrants issued and four new convictions.

In all of these cases the evidence was worked up by Industrial Inspector J. Bernard Clineinst, who has been making long jumps and turning up in unexpected places for several weeks while conducting inspections and prosecuting violations of the law. In East Radford yesterday morning a compromise was apparently effected in four cases. The official report shows that all of the accused dismissed the charges. The trial magistrate decided guilty, but without imposing a fine. The accused concerns that escaped penalty after pleading guilty are: Walker & Sublett, E. E. Walker, manager; W. R. Roberts, E. Co., W. R. Roberts, manager; the Leader Store, Herbert Artz, manager, and the Model Millinery Shop, Mrs. A. Y. Noell, proprietor. The charge in each case was violation of the ten-hour law.

In Pulaski Inspector Clineinst swore out warrants yesterday against the proprietors or managers of fourteen business houses and manufacturing, charging violations of the State sanitary law in eight cases and violations of the ten-hour law in six cases. All of these cases were set for trial in Pulaski, Thursday, November 12.

GOVERNOR RETURNS

Will Probably Call General Assembly for First Wednesday in January.

It is probable that Governor Stuart will call the General Assembly into extraordinary session the first Wednesday in January, the date contemplated by the Legislature when the act creating the Tax Commission was passed. The Governor returned to the city yesterday, but said, in reply to a query, that he had not had time to give the matter his consideration.

The Governor devoted yesterday to executive matters and received half a score of callers. Among the callers was Richard Evelyn Byrd, candidate for the gubernatorial chair at the expiration of the term of Governor Stuart, and Robert L. Pennington, member of the House of Delegates from Lee County. Both were favored with long interviews.

TODD ELECTED BY GAME PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting and Election of Officers Taken Place at Business Men's Club.

At the annual meeting of the Virginia Game and Fish Protective Association, held last night at the Business Men's Club, officers to serve during the ensuing year were elected as follows: president, William Todd; first vice-president, A. F. Hunt; second vice-president, W. P. Patterson; secretary, treasurer, Charles B. Cook. Executive, legislative, membership and press committees will soon be appointed by the newly elected president.

Reports were read in the meeting last night by the president, secretary and treasurer, showing that good work has been done during the past year by the association, and that limited funds are on hand with which to carry on the work as outlined. The membership of the association numbered 300, and a large representation was present at the annual meeting.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and various matters of interest were thoroughly discussed, including the appointment of a State game commissioner and of regular wardens, whose duty it will be to see that laws providing for the protection of game and fish are rigidly enforced. The association hopes to accomplish much this year.

SHOT THROUGH LEG

Lynn Jones Dodges Two Officers and Avoids Arrest.

Willie Leving, colored, was shot through the leg by another negro, said to have been Lynn Jones, early yesterday morning following a quarrel over a cuspidor in a shoe shining parlor at Eighth and Cary Streets. The negro was not seriously injured.

Jones escaped after the shooting, and had not been captured at an early hour this morning. He narrowly escaped being apprehended by Traffic Officer H. G. Clarke at Ninth and Main Streets while he was being pursued by Traffic Officer R. W. Tuffin, who had hurried to the scene of the shooting from his post at Seventh and Main Streets. The negro evaded Clarke and fled toward Virginia Hospital, and is thought to have found a hiding place in Jail Alley bottom.

Additional Warrants Served.

Warrants charging J. S. Lippford, the man now being held in Jail on a charge of violating the Mann white slave act, with non-support of his wife and child and with a capital crime against Miss Marie L. Sled, who is an inmate of the Spring Street Home, were last night entered against him by the First Precinct Station by Detectives Atkinson and Krenzel. These officers arrested the man on the white slave charge some time ago, and his case was continued by Justice Griggs.

RACE TRACK GAMBLERS MUST SERVE JAIL TERMS

Supreme Court of Appeals Confirms Decision of Circuit Court of Norfolk County.

OUT ON BOND OF $3,000 EACH Will Forfeit This Amount if They Fail to Return to Virginia for Jail Sentence—Last Case Is Disposed Of—Governor's Course Vindicated.

The crusade conducted by Governor Stuart and Attorney-General John Garland Pollard against race track gambling in Virginia has been brought to a successful culmination in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

The judges of the Supreme Court silenced the fire of the bookmakers' guns this week. Yesterday a writ of error was refused Lewis H. Snell, the last of the race track gamblers to appeal from the Norfolk County Circuit Court's decision. On the preceding day the same ill luck befell Bookmaker Cobb. They are two of the thirteen men who were fined for unlawful bookmaking on the Jamestown Jockey Club's track last spring, when Attorney-General Pollard, by direction of the Governor, visited the race track and subsequently directed the prosecution of the men arrested.

Eleven of the thirteen bookmakers paid a fine of $500 each and received conditional pardons on their promise not to return to Virginia. Two of the thirteen appealed from the decision of the court.

MUST FORFEIT BOND OR SERVE JAIL TERMS

The refusal of the Supreme Court to interfere with the verdict of the lower court means that the two men will have to serve six months in jail each, and pay their fines if they return to the State. They are out on bonds of $3,000 each. If they fail to return, they forfeit their bonds.

Other business was transacted by the Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday as follows:

No. 1. The Virginian Railway Company vs. Echols. Argued by G. A. Wingfield and H. T. Hall, for the appellant, and by Mr. Colbourn, for the respondent, and submitted.

No. 2. Walter's executor vs. Trefouret et al. Partly argued, and continued until to-day.

The next cases to be called were announced as follows:

Argument docket—

No. 1. Halston vs. Halston.

No. 2. City of Norfolk vs. Southern Railway Company.

No. 3. Steinbach vs. Steinbach.

No. 4. Crismond's administratrix vs. Jones et al.

DIES FROM WOUND

Paul Stafford Shoots Himself on First Day of Hunting Season.

Paul Stafford, of Nottoway County, who shot himself first day of the hunting season, died early yesterday morning at the Johnston-Willis Hospital, to which he had been brought for treatment. The body was shipped to Burkeville yesterday for burial. Stafford leaves a wife and three small children, one of whom is just three weeks old. The load of bird shot entered the man's thigh and took an upward course.

BANK WINS VERDICT IN PINCHEFSKY SUIT

Husband and Wife Had Money Deposited to Their Joint Account.

Either Empowered to Sign Husband Drew Money Out, Whereupon Wife Sued Bank, Claiming Husband Had Signed Her Name Illegally.

Mrs. Jacob Pinchefskey sued the First National Bank in the City Circuit Court for $201.62, which she charged the bank paid out to her husband, Jacob Pinchefskey, upon an improperly executed check. The jury which heard the evidence yesterday returned a verdict for the bank, and the plaintiff lost her suit.

The case was the most peculiar that has claimed the attention of the City Circuit Court for many a day. It appears from the evidence that Mr. and Mrs. Pinchefskey deposited the money in question to their joint credit. The signature card, on file with the bank, however, empowered either or both of the parties to sign a valid check against the money on deposit.

Mr. Pinchefskey, exercising his prerogative as husband and copartner in the account, made out a check for the amount on deposit, signing his name and that of his wife to it. It was paid by the bank without question.

CHARGES HER HUSBAND WITH FORGING HER NAME

When Mrs. Pinchefskey learned of her husband's act, she brought suit against the bank, charging that her name was forged to the check, and that the bank had paid it. Furthermore, she claimed, the entire amount on deposit was her money, given to her by her father. Mr. Pinchefskey stoutly asserted in court yesterday that the money was his, deposited by him from the proceeds of his grocery business.

Judge Scott instructed the jury, that the burden of proving that the check was a forgery rested on the plaintiff. It was instructed to give due weight to the signature card, which gave either party, or both, the right to sign a valid check against the account. The jury, after remaining out more than an hour, returned a verdict for the defendant, holding that the check was properly executed and signed by both parties.

Fails to Get Diamond.

Annie Jones yesterday, in the Law and Equity Court, lost her claim against E. J. Rowley, administrator of the estate of Henrietta Jackson, for a $300 diamond ring. The court decided in favor of the defendant.

Court Dismisses Church Squabble.

Preliminary skirmishes in Jackson Ward's war were won by the allies of Rev. Wingfield Scott in Police Court yesterday, when the cases against him and James Williams were dismissed by Justice Griggs. With a courtroom crowded to overflowing with partisans of one or another of the "sides" into which the church congregation had been divided, it was shown to the justice that A. L. Laundries was not a member of White Rock Church, and had overstepped his bounds by "butting into" the squabble and swearing out warrants for the two men. The court thereupon promptly dismissed the case. The trouble is said to have been started over payment for several articles of furniture which the little mission church had purchased.

RED CROSS BALL BRILLIANT EVENT

Scene of Color and Fascination at Great Charity Event of Season.

GOVERNOR STUART ATTENDS

Debutantes in Uniforms as Nurses and Militia Officers in Full Dress Lead Dancing.

The Red Cross ball, so long talked of and worked for by an enthusiastic band of Richmond's most prominent women, was held last night in the Grays' Armory, Seventh and Marshall Streets. Success in every sense of the word crowned the efforts of the committee. All Richmond and his wife were there, from Governor Stuart and his staff to the boys and girls who came to dance for the sheer joy of dancing. Fascinating Red Cross Nurses in the persons of the season's debutantes and many of the young matrons either invited the bachelors to buy roses from the sweet scented baskets they carried; served punch, ice cream and candy or in general tended to the picturesqueness of the scene.

Members of the military committee in uniform mingling with the dancers in evening dress, brought most forcibly to the minds of the present those war-torn countries where the Red Cross, the military and the civilians are gathered under much less happy circumstances. Two big Red Cross banners floated from each end of the armory and the refreshment and candy tables were decorated with the emblem.

MASS OF PALMS FORMS BACKGROUND FOR PATRONESSES

On one side of the hall a mass of palms, loaned by a generous florist, formed a background for the line of the patronesses. This was made up from the officers and executive board, Mrs. Caskie Cabell, president; Mrs. Sam Cohen, vice-president; Mrs. Robert G. Cabell, treasurer; and Mrs. Lawrence T. Price, secretary. Mrs. C. E. Hollings, chairman of the ticket committee; Mrs. C. W. Massie, refreshment committee; Mrs. J. G. Corley, music; and Mrs. Thomas B. McAdams and Mrs. Frank C. Williams, candy.

The members of the committee moved about through the crowd acting as hostesses.

Just after the entrance of the Governor and staff, and the city's chief of police, Mayor George Ainslie, when the galleries were filled with spectators, the "Star Spangled Banner" was played by the band and in an instant the assemblage was on its feet. The sight was most impressive.

Before the general dancing began the floor was cleared for the exhibition dances given by Miss Emily Frances Hooper and Ellsworth Cook, who are appearing at the management at the Richmond Hotel. These dances "The Ice" and the ball was started. In the beginning all women with hats on were in the galleries but by reason of the committee's generosity in the matter of evening dress, the dancing throng was soon a kaleidoscopic picture of evening dress and hats; street suits and hats and evening dress without hats.

MILITARY COMMITTEE ACTS AS FLOOR MANAGERS

The members of the military committee acting as floor managers were: Adjutant-General W. W. Sale, Colonel John H. Hill, chief of the Governor's staff; Colonel Joe Lane Stern, Major Lawrence T. Price, Major E. W. Bowles, Major T. M. Wortham, Captain William M. Myers, Captain John T. Cutching, Colonel James T. Pollard, Colonel Allen Potts, Colonel Warren P. Taylor and Captain J. Randolph Tucker.

The spots of color added by their uniforms made a highly decorative feature of the ball.

Among the debutantes were Miss Alice Reed, Miss Anne Myers, Miss Janet Montague, Miss Mary Jane Massie, Miss Maud Ainslie, Miss Annie Cook, Miss Nell White, Miss Carter Ingram and Miss Martha Chandler. Assisting at the refreshment tables were Miss Mary Bradley, Miss Grayce Paul, Miss Louise White, Miss Edythe Parrish, Miss Blanche Fore, Mrs. Robert Higgins, Miss Florence Nordet, Miss Elizabeth Brown, Miss Agnes Parrish, Miss Margaret Parrish and Miss Ida Bailey. Those who formed Mrs. Massie's committee were: Mrs. E. A. Blenner, Mrs. E. Taylor, Mr. G. T. W. Kern, Mrs. J. W. White, Mrs. Charles J. Billups, Mrs. P. J. White, Mrs. Randolph Watkins, Mrs. John Lee Davis, Mrs. Wallace Brown, Miss Beatrice Canapa and Miss Teresa Higgins.

No fair idea of the number of tickets sold could be given, but hundreds of tickets were disposed of at the door after 8:30, and Mr. Bolling said that there were many holders of tickets who did not expect to attend the affair. There was estimated to be at least 1,500 persons in the galleries and on the floor.

ALL GOES TO AID FUND FOR RED CROSS

Everything that for the ball was contributed; not a cent was spent for anything. Mrs. Cabell said that neither position nor color had interfered with donations, even servants had offered their services freely to help the "poor Red Cross folks."

The army was given. The music donated by the Richmond Protective Association, Local No. 123; refreshments and flowers were freely contributed, and the services of an untiring committee of women who have worked day and night, were by no means the least of the things that make the Red Cross ball for the benefit of the sick and wounded in Europe a memorable one. The other members of this committee were: Mrs. J. Taylor, Mrs. George Ainslie, Mrs. Barton Wise, Mrs. J. Montague, Mrs. Charles Whitlock, Mrs. Arthur P. Wilmer, Mrs. J. J. Willis, Miss Mary Lyon, Mrs. George T. King, Mrs. Norman V. Randall, Mrs. William M. Myers, Mrs. John D. Jones, Mrs. Charles P. Stokes, Mrs. C. P. Lee, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. M. C. Branch, Mrs. B. O. James, Miss Darlington, Mrs. J. Gray, Jr., Mrs. James D. Camp, Mrs. M. C. Patterson, Mrs. E. E. Moffitt and Mrs. Cally Ryland.

Suspected of Stealing Chickens.

Andrew and Daniel Gallimore and Alfred Harvie, both colored, who are charged with being suspicious characters, suspected of stealing several chickens from 304 North Third Street, was yesterday continued until November 6 by Justice Griggs.

Held for Asylum Authorities.

Sam Willis, alleged to be an escaped inmate of the Epileptic Colony at Lynchburg, who was captured by patrolmen Akers, was yesterday ordered to be taken to officers of that institution by Justice Griggs in the Police Court.
